Diploma in Travel, Tourism and Hospitality Management

MDIS UniCampus comes alive

In one stroke, the MDIS UniCampus was brought to life when Dr Vivian Balakrishnan, Minister of Community Development, Youth and Sports, and Second Minister for Information, Communications and the Arts, dotted the MDIS marble lions' eyes. The Lions' Eye-Dotting Ceremony signified MDIS' intention to strengthen its global imprint in the field of education that yields globally-recognised qualifications. With 8,500 students, MDIS intends to raise its student population from the current 8,500 to 15,000 by 2009.

"The ceremony comes at the right time, for while Singapore is pushing ahead with its globalisation thrust, MDIS is also mindful of its own efforts to draw talent to Singapore and build its skills and knowledge base," said Dr Eric Kuan, President of MDIS.

The eye-dotting event was witnessed by about 250 people. MDIS students, resplendent in their Vietnamese ao dai, Myanmar longgyi, sarong kebaya, sari and other national costumes, lined the driveway as Dr Balakrishnan made his arrival. As he made his way towards the Dome entrance, two prancing lions welcomed him. This was followed by a welcome dance performed by a Thai teacher who was attending English teacher training at MDIS.

Standing in front of the marble lion, Dr Balakrishnan picked up the brush that was clenched between the lion's jaws and proceeded to carefully and meticulously dot its eyes with red paint. The lions' attributes i.e. "Magnanimous", "Distinctive", "Illustrious" and "Strong", also represent MDIS' qualities. After completing the same procedure with the second lion, Dr Balakrishnan was then invited on a tour of the UniCampus.

"Dr Balakrishnan played an important role in helping us to secure our campus grounds. We are very grateful to have him 'bless' our institute in this ceremony and witness the completion of our pride and joy, the MDIS UniCampus."

Dr R. Theyvendran, MDIS Secretary-General

Turning the clock back to 5 January 2005, Dr Balakrishnan first officiated at the MDIS ground-breaking ceremony. Now with the UniCampus fully ready, it is most fitting for MDIS to have Dr Balakrishnan with us to view the transformation that has taken place. Facing the inner courtyard where he had broken ground with an excavator a year before, he marveled at the marked difference that faced him. A grandiose and cheerful colourful amphitheatre now greeted him where once only a bare grassy quadrangle lay.

As Dr Balakrishnan progressed on to the SAMTAS Hall, lecture rooms, computer and language laboratories, he was impressed by the facilities.

A group of teachers, supervisors and MOE coordinators from Thailand updated Dr Balakrishnan with the cognitive teaching skills they had learnt and he graciously posed for pictures with them.

In the Life Science laboratories, Dr Balakrishnan met the pioneer batch of MDIS College students who were re-taking their 'O' Level examinations. He commented that this was a significant area of growth for MDIS, by providing a good learning environment for students who need a second chance in their 'O' or 'A' Levels.

His parting comments bring to mind the very same insights he gave at the MDIS 50th Anniversary Gala Dinner – that by providing the path less travelled, MDIS opens up opportunities to individuals who would otherwise not have access to these opportunities. Indeed, the idea behind MDIS is just as relevant today as it was 50 years ago.

"With our excellent infrastructure and multiple student care programmes for international students, MDIS will help in the national effort to attract and retain more foreign talent to Singapore and build our nation into a vibrant global city with a dynamic talent pool, and international exchange of ideas."

Dr Eric Kuan, MDIS President

The Leader in Mass Communications

The FIRST and MOST established American Mass Communications programme in Singapore

"I wanted a reputable institution that has highly qualified lecturers to provide me with the education I seek. I was thus impressed by the fact that Oklahoma City University has lecturers (who are full-time lecturers at the university) specially flown in to conduct lectures for us."

Student, Bachelor of Arts in Mass Communications (Class of 2005)

"I graduated with only an 'N' level certificate but the OCU mass communications programme provided me with an academic progression pathway to success. I can't wait to continue with the Bachelor degree in 2006 after my National Service. I am more confident about my future now."

Jeremiah Kang
Graduate, Diploma and Advanced Diploma in Mass Communications

"I love the culture in the classroom, especially when you have lecturers from the west. Their style of teaching is extremely interactive...they bring with them a whole range of new experiences and insights."

Paul Pereira
Graduate & Top Student
Bachelor of Arts in Mass Communications (Class of 2004)

"The programme offered by MDIS has opened many doors of career opportunities for me. Not only was I able to gain employment within a month of my graduation, I also received several other offers of employment in the past one year."
